2023 in a nutshell

We have come a long way since we first started working on sustainability. In 2023, we again took important steps in our sustainability journey. Our excellent scores on prominent ESG ratings, the sustainability awards we received and our progress towards the targets we have set for ourselves are testimony to this.

Our sustainability strategy

A photograph of two hikers on a mountain peak. One hiker is standing and smiling, while the other is kneeling and holding her hand. Both are wearing backpacks and outdoor gear. The background is a vast, hazy mountain landscape under a bright sky.

Our sustainability strategy can only be integrated throughout our group through a firm sustainability governance. Sustainability at KBC is a top-level responsibility and partly determines the collective variable remuneration of our top-level management. We use our Sustainability Dashboard to measure this progress.

The cornerstones of our sustainability strategy

Good health and well-being

Focus on improving healthcare, quality of life and road safety.

Affordable and clean energy

Contribute to increasing the share of local renewable energy production and its efficient use. Gradually exiting from the financing and insurance of non-sustainable energy

Decent work and economic growth

Supporting entrepreneurs and investing in innovative new businesses. Especially stimulating female entrepreneurship. Providing microfinance and microinsurance in the Global South.

Responsible consumption and production

Developing banking and insurance products which support low-carbon or circular businesses. Promoting responsible investing as our first offer and preferred investment solutions

Climate action

Strict sustainability policies in place for our portfolios. Setting climate targets for the most carbon intensive sectors and product lines in our lending portfolios. Setting targets for reducing our direct climate impact

Business solutions with a positive societal impact

Four focus domains, within our realm of influence and through which we can address current societal needs.

Environmental responsibility

Financial literacy

Entrepreneurship

Longevity and health

Creating
long-term value for society is at the core of
